May Queen And Maid-Of-Honor Pick Attendants For 1947 Court

Nancy Mann Hite, a senior and a major in business administration was elected by the student body as their 1947 May Queen. Sarah Armstrong, a junior and also majoring in business administration was chosen as the Maid-of-Honor.

The May Queen with her maid of honor and court attendants will preside over festivities on May 3.

Miss Hite, who is from Blackstone, Virginia, is secretary of the Student Government, a member of Cotillion Club and Sigma Tau Chi. She has really "risen from the ranks," so to speak, as in previous years she has been in the May Court, and served as Maid-of-Honor in 1946. When queried as to her ambition and plans after graduation, Miss Hite gave a happy laugh and remarked that for now her plans didn't extend any farther than June and her wedding day.

Miss Armstrong, who served on the May Court last year, and was elected as the Beauty Queen at the annual Junior Benefit in 1945-46. Previous to entering Mary Washington, Sarah was a model for Saks Fifth Avenue in New York. However, this young lady, a member of Cotillion Club, and Sigma Tau Chi, and treasurer of the Student Government Association, announces that she is going to work for her master's degree in economics, in preference to returning to her modeling job. When asked what place marriage had in her future plans she stated that she hoped it would slip into place immediately upon obtaining her masters.

Others chosen to be in the May Court are as follows: Florence Vivian Archibald, Estelle Marjorie Batty, Gloria Jolly Bertrand, Dorothy May Booker, Adelaide Louise Brail, Betty Mae Caum, Mary Frances Cheatham, Sallie Booker Crowell, Ann Elizabeth Driscoll, Elizabeth Spotswood Goodie, Muriel Harmon, Patricia Lou Head, Barbara Ann Hough, Wilma Elizabeth Johnston, Betty Louise Lawton, Arnold Mattox, Carolyn Campbell Myers, Meda Leigh Overman, Vessie Louene Robinson, Dorothy Towles Rowe, Patsy Allen Smith, Marcelina Lavon Weatherly, Bette Jane Worsham, Lois Saunier, Mildred Z. Charlton, Mary Jane Peter, Helen Joanne Weber, Gene Watkins.

Nominations for president of Student Government were made Wednesday night at a meeting of the entire student body held in George Washington Auditorium. She is majoring in Dramatics and hopes to do radio advertising following her graduation.

Barbara Hough, house president of Madison, was born on October 25, 1926, and lives in West Hartford, Connecticut. Bobbie was secretary of her sophomore class and is a member of Sigma Tau Chi and Cotillion. She majors in Commerce and Science and wants to be a Laboratory Technician after she graduates.

Sixty New Students Enroll At M. W. C. As Semester Opens

Sixty new students, 19 of whom are veterans, started the new semester at Mary Washington College on February 3. Sixteen of the girls are from Virginia with New York, Florida, California, Delaware, Texas, Massachusetts, Indiana, Arkansas, South Carolina, Washington, D. C., Ohio, and Puerto Rico also represented.

Many of the girls are reentering Mary Washington this semester, five are transfer students and four are special students. Mrs. B. A. Frick, wife of Dr. Frick, math professor at the college, is also entering for some special courses this semester.

One of the new sophomores, Becky McCall, is continuing her college career after winning second place in the Atlantic City Miss America Pageant of 1946. The newcomers generally formed favorable first impressions though perhaps Betty Redfern, a freshman from Winchester, Va., was the most enthusiastic. "Everyone is so friendly and I like it ever so much," exclaimed Betty, "and furthermore, I haven't even been homesick!"

Westmoreland Places First In Annual Song Contest

Westmoreland was the winner of the annual song contest held last Saturday night in George Washington Hall, and sponsored jointly by the Student Government Association and the Athletic Recreational Association, Tri-Unit won second place, Betty Lewis third, and Off-Campus had honorable mention.

Westmoreland participants wore red and white. For the Alma Mater, the girls sat on the platforms, and as they sang the Mary Washington emblem of the spinning wheel and torch at one side of the stage cast its shadow on the curtain behind them.

Nora Bryant wrote the words and music for the Westmoreland Alma Mater and Jean Crotty wrote the words and music for their Pep Song. Nora Bryant, Barbara Buckham, and Donna Littman were the pianists. Lois Anderson was their director.

The contest was based on a possible score of 100%. Attendance counted 20%, the manner of presentation of the original Alma Mater and Pep Song 15%, the originality of the Alma Mater and Pep Song 15%, and the quality of each 10%. Each group sang one of the songs their dormitory presented last year on a non-competitive basis.

Betty Lewis and Tri-Unit had the highest percentage of attendance with 18% each. The judges agreed to allow Off-Campus the full 20% because of the difficulty in computing the number of off-campus girls away for the weekend. Attendance was based on the number of girls actually in the dormitories this weekend.

Some of the outstanding effects of other dormitories were unique. Cornell girls dressed to represent different phases of college life passed in front of the Mary Washington pennant. Tri-Unit dressed in blue and white and solid white.

At the end of their Alma Mater, flashlights formed a large MWC. Virginia girls were dressed as typical college girls, with caps and pennants, and had "Artistry in Rhythm" and "Artistry in Simplicity" as their theme.

Seniors Will Meet To Discuss Jobs

Information concerning the services offered by the Mary Washington College Placement Bureau were discussed at a meeting of the Senior Class on Tuesday evening, Feb. 4. Miss Swander, who addressed the class, stressed that girls who wish to apply for fellowships, scholarships, or assistantships in graduate schools for the session beginning September, 1947, should do so before March 1.

Three additional meetings will be held on Tuesday, February 11, Miss Margaret Swander will discuss "Ways of Finding a Job," Thursday, February 20, Miss Swander will discuss "How to Write Letters of Application," and on Thursday, February 25, the topic will be "How to Conduct Yourself During an Interview." All of the meetings will be held in Westmoreland parlor at 6:45 P. M.

In order to publicize information about job openings, the group recommended that notices be posted on the bulletin board in Chandler basement. When prospective employers visit the Campus without advance notification, the group decided that a telephone girl on duty in Westmoreland would be responsible for notifying not only the residents of Westmoreland but also the seniors in Ball, Brent, and Marye Halls.

March of Dimes Nets $450 for Fund On College Campus

A total of $447.13 was turned in from Mary Washington College during the recent March of Dimes drive for the fight against infantile paralysis. The drive here began January 21 and continued through January 31. The money collected was turned in to Senator Benjamin T. Pitts.

The drive at Mary Washington was started with the donation of a check for $25 by the student government association. On January 21 an actual March of Dimes was held and contributions were dropped in a large wash tub placed in Chandler Circle. Later in the drive a cake made by a home economics student was raffled off in the dining hall.

Of the total amount, $250 was subscribed last fall during the Campus Chest drive and $157.13 was collected from the march, the cake raffle and a jar placed in the College Shop. Forty dollars more was added to the total when the money to pay for a movie given on the hill was turned over for the drive.

'Round and 'Round They Go—

Rumors are thicker on this campus than flies on a screen door in the summer time. They concern anything from the coal shortage to credits given by the college.

The two latest rumors have been aimed directly at the heart of the college. They were of a nature that, if allowed to continue to circulate, they might have done much to discredit the name of Mary Washington.

Both of these rumors have been proved false. It turned out that 40, not 400, students left school at the end of last semester and that 30 enrolled for the second term. Where the extra zero was added, no one knows. Dean Alvey after the student body meeting Wednesday night gave facts to disprove the other story circulating that Mary Washington is not an accredited college. He said that the college is approved and accredited by numerous organizations including the Southern Association of Colleges.

Such rumors should not be. Where they originate and how they first circulate are matters of deep mystery. The point is that they are started by someone or some group, and they are picked up and related by other groups.

Perhaps the rumors arise from the plot of ground in the circle between Tri-Unit and Virginia. From there they spread to Willard. Betty Lewis, Westmoreland, and even as far as Cornell. A whispered tale, a juicy bit of gossip—it doesn't seem much, almost worth not telling—Well don't. Soon these small bits assume large proportions. Students become excited or worried. The administration wonders what is wrong—and it all stems from a rumor.

During the war we were all especially careful to guard any secrets, military or otherwise, that we might have. Why have we suddenly become so lax? Is it that the joy of telling someone else something you know and they don't surpass any loyalty you may have?

A few will defend themselves by saying, "Well, how can we know if it's true?" Have you tried to find out?

Rumors are deadly. As such they must be stopped, especially those that would throw a bad light on our college. You chose to go here in the first place because you thought it the best of all the others you might have attended—Tell others so! Be proud of your school, your campus, your credits, and your students.

This may all sound like a lot of rah, rah doctrine. I don't mean it that way. It's just that rumors, as such, have reached the spot where they must come up against a concrete wall—a wall of facts. Will you be a wall for the next rumor?—V.E.P.

Dr. Paul J. Ritter Leaves Dramatic Dept.

The Students Speak

February 10, 1947

Dear Editor:

Where is the school spirit and good sportsmanship that is so glibly talked of at M. W. C.? It is shown by compelling people to attend a voluntary meeting? Is it shown by giving superficial reasons for defeat? Is it shown by using Gestapo methods to retaliate—

An example of this fine sportsmanship and school spirit was demonstrated recently in connection with the song contest. It had been advertised as a completely voluntary project and several people, choosing to exercise their democratic right, expressed their intention of remaining at home. Why, then, was the fur of so many Juniors ruffled when six of their number, who refused to be taken in by threats of punishment to be administered for failure to attend, behaved as individuals and not as a segment of a gullible mob?

We object to violence, all six of us, but when the need for active resistance to usurpation of our rights arises we find ourselves entirely capable of it. We will not submit to being submerged in tubs of cold water, to having our clothes torn violently from us, or to similar absurdities.

The primitive, uninhibited manner in which certain members of organizations that verbally advocate democracy and liberty, conduct themselves would be shocking in the most tyrannical society.

Madam Editor, when will things like this cease to be enacted at M. W. C.? When will the young minds of our fellow students mature? When will one be able to feel secure in the privacy of his own room?

Elizabeth Kessler

All The King's Men Is Pseudo Portrait Of 'Boss' Huey Long

The trend in recent fiction has been toward cleverly disguised biography, as is witnessed by the pseudo-portraits of Frank Lloyd Wright in THE FOUNTAINHEAD, George Washington Hill in THE HUCKSTERS and the more detailed studies of Huey Long in Adria Locke Langley's A LION IN THE STREETS and the more recent ALL THE KING'S MEN by Robert Penn Warren. Huey Long has lately become the victimized or glorified hero of not only the above two works but other lesser novels. Each author treats him in a different way, sees him as a saint or a Machiavelli, an always rough illiterate or a fairly educated politically minded business man. Mr. Warren, a man of past fame, having authored such novels as NIGHT RIDER, AT HEAVEN'S GATE, and been the ally of poet Alan Tate and others in the defense of agrarianism in ILL TAKE MY STAND, paints such a vivid picture of the party politics of the new deal south along with many "wise saws and modern instances" that Mrs. Langley's novel looks idealistically raw.

The hero, Willie Stark, (or the Boss, or Governor) is depicted by Mr. Warren, not as a swamp boy with mud in his toes who rises out of his misery to free his kind of people from the evil politicians right to stray from the path of righteousness later and end up as another link in the chain of crooked politics. Rather, Willie is seen as a rather pensive, elusive, self-made lawyer, who nevertheless wears shoes and goes to school long before he ever thinks of politics as being much more than a vote every year or so. When Willie starts his career by getting his fellow "hicks" to make him governor, he remembers who put him in the state capital and really does make radical changes in the back country roads, school system, and medical care. He never really becomes a traitor to the cause, as did Mrs. Langley's hero, but does remember his prime objective is the Senatorship and his method

February 10, 1947.

Dear Editor:

This is a letter of simple, unadulterated complaint. What, I ask, has happened to school spirit at M. W. C.? I fear it has died a premature death at the hands of its most ardent supporters, one member of Student Government (a so-called democratic organization) and a group of brawny, mob-spirited individuals who have apparently decided that there is no law like lynch law. I refer to the unfortunate incident following the Song Contest on Saturday night. These pious advocates of school spirit chanted well their credo of class spirit and good sportsmanship. Where, I ask, was this good sportsmanship in evidence, when after returning from the contest, disgruntled with defeat, they proceeded in crude attempts (however futile) to administer punishment to the six out of the one hundred seventy-eight individuals who presumably caused their defeat? One recalls that the juniors of today were last year's sophomores, which brings to mind a similar disgraceful incident at Betty Lewis a year ago. Perhaps the song contest will be a peaceful democratic affair year after next, but we have scarcely any hope for it next year.

The annual Song Contest was organized to promote class spirit. I wonder, Editor, how many of the one hundred seventy-two attendants from the Tri-Unit went to support their class, and how many went because amateur propagandists circulated a rumor to the effect that failure to attend would be a House Council offense. Any ratio based on public spirit is therefore inaccurate, and has at the outset defeated its own purpose. Perhaps this accounts for the loud applause from the Junior section, acclaiming the triumph of Westmoreland.

In fact, Editor, I consider such activity more reminiscent of the Hitler Youth Movement, than the workings of a democratic society. I feel that these people are in the minority, and that Mary Washington is capable of better things.

Willie Lee Nichols.

of attaining the end justifies the means, not in the light of Machiavelli, but rather as one very smart politician outwitting several dumb ones. His untimely death at the hands of the honest brother of a not-so honest girl friend of his comes at the height of his career. This is a great relief, for Willie in life was an over-seer with a whip, while Willie in death is a friend to all.

Yet the book is not so much about the rise and fall of Willie Stark as it is about the people who trail in his glory. There is a great deal about Jack Burden, the ex-husband of the woman who is caught in the Stark merry-go-round, and through whose eyes Willie is seen. There is Sadie Burke, with her abusive language and her love for Willie; there is Sugar-Boy, the inarticulate "trigger-man" of Willie's; there is Anne Stanton and her brother Adam; Judge Irwin, who has no respect for Willie; and there are hundreds of minor characters who link their fates to those of the "Boss."

The characterization of the book is excellent, but the description is superb. A long, white slab of new road with its distant mirage of heat; a clean, clear dive into cool sunset waters from a forty-foot diving board; the smell of mimosa, the realistic earthy comparisons; the sparkling Gulf on a morning at dawn; a battle of wits between a yellow-eyed justice and a pig-headed governor in the Victorian fadedness of a parlor; the feeling of frustration, of hatred for oneself for being a coward; the tense moment when a man who is reaching out to shake hands is instead pointing the business end of a revolver; all these and many more like them add up to one of the best of recent southern regional novels.

V's
SAYS

Girls, remember last fall when you signed up to be a member of the Y. W. C. A.? Well, this will apply to everyone of you. The "Y" association meeting for all members who joined at the beginning of the year will be held Friday, February 14th, in Monroe Auditorium. The time is 7:00 and please don't forget! Would you like to know what will be happening? Here it is. There will be short devotionals, a short business meeting, then entertainment and refreshments. Come on out, members! This will be the one time of the year that we can all be together.

For those that have still been wondering if they could have one of those nice 1947 M. W. C. calendars, here is your answer. Yes, they are still available, so get your money out so you too can enjoy one of them.

Watch your "Y" column next week for all the news on Religious Emphasis Week which will start February 18th. We want all of you to support it whole heartedly.

Girls, vespers are again resumed in all dormitories. They are at 10:30, so why don't you come down for a few minutes and end your busy day in a good way.

Veterans Score Over VEPCO In Last Game Before Exams

In the last game for several of the Vets, the M. W. C. team defeated VEPCO by a score of 46-35, on Friday night, January 24.

This game was by far the best of several that these two teams have played and there were fewer spectators than at any of the other games. Approaching exams probably accounted for the small crowd. During the first quarter, the teams were evenly matched, first one side and then the other making a basket. At the quarter the score stood 10-9. In the second quarter, the VETS turned on the steam and increased the score to 26-17 at the half.

In the fourth quarter, the VEPCO team made their final bid for victory and increased their score to within two points of the VETS. However the VETS came back with a lot of last minute baskets, and the game ended with the score 46-35.

C. Magee was the top scorer and outstanding player for VEPCO with 15 points. Al Marra was top scorer for the VETS with 16 points. However, Lee Liberman shared the honors with Al Marra, not only by collecting 11 points, but also by being the outstanding defensive man on the team.

It was the last game for two of the VETS; Bob Gibson who left to attend the University of Richmond and George Peterson, who has joined the Montreal Club of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Lit. Club Discusses Novels In Movies At Monthly Meeting

"Novels in Movies" was the topic for discussion at the Modern Literature Club meeting Monday, February 3. The members compared their ideas on how well producers handled some of the nation's best novels in their movies. Various phases of photography were discussed, together with the acting abilities of players in leading roles as they have portrayed heroes or heroines of fiction on the screen. Plans were made for possibly bringing some French and English films on campus, charging a minimum fee.

Some of the movies mentioned were "Lost Horizon," "Razor's Edge," "Leave Her To Heaven," "Valley of Decision," "Laura," "Rebecca" and "The Strange Woman."

Weakened Vets Drop Game To U. of R. 38-22

The University of Richmond freshmen defeated a weakened MWC Vet team, by a score of 38-22 in a rough game played Feb. 5, on the MWC floor.

Due to the loss of Bob Gibson and George Peterson at the end of the semester and Al Marra, who pulled a muscle in his heel in the first quarter, the Vets did not exhibit their usual good playing. They held the Richmond boys to a 7-5 score at the end of the first quarter, but at half time, the University of Richmond boys were in the lead 18-9.

Led by Timberlake, they increased their score in the third quarter and at the end of the game, the Vets trailed by 16 points. Richmond showed superior passing ability, and they were able to penetrate the Vet defense to set up shots under the goal. There was much rough play; each team receiving 19 fouls. On free throws Richmond made nine, while the Vets scored 12.

Timberlake was high scorer for Richmond and for the game with 17 points, while Snellings was high for the Vets with 8 points.

Between quarters and at half time, the band, clad in red and white to match our teams uniforms, played several school songs and marches while the majorettes performed on the floor. Ed Song was referee.

Dorm Basketball Competition Is Keen As Games Begin

Now that exams and practices are over, the dormitory competition in basketball is under way. There are ten teams participating in the tournament, three teams representing the three floors of Willard, two from Virginia, and one each from Westmoreland, Tri Unit, Cornell, Betty Lewis, and Off Campus. In the next three weeks, each team will play each of the other teams and the team winning the most games in the end will be the winner. In case of a tie, it will be played off between the two or three teams as the case may be.

There were three practices scheduled for each team and three mass practices scheduled during exams. In order for a girl to be eligible to play, she must have attended two practices and not have played class basketball last year. At the end of the last practice, each of the teams elected their captains. They include: Westmoreland, Jean McCausland; Tri Unit, Phil Campbell; Cornell, Ann Callis; Off Campus, Doris Watts; Betty Lewis, Margaret Mann and Betty Parker, co-captains; Willard I, Charlotte Harris; and Willard II, Ellen Willey.

ATTENTION

Dancers are needed for the May Day Performance, "The Glass Slipper." Everyone interested is requested to report to the Gym at 4:30 on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. No experience is necessary.
